Issues in financial reporting unsw

Many unrelated topics. Quizzes are difficult, so you have to study consistently. The content is not difficult, but the fact that you learn very deeply along with a difficult review makes the course quite challenging to do well. Strong knowledge of journal entries from previous accounting subjects helps a lot. Anonymous, Semester 2, 2014
ACCT3563 - Issues in Financial Reporting and Financial Analysis 4 Pages University of New South Wales Essay/ Project Year: Pre-2017 UNSW ACCT3563 (Semester 1, 2013) Individual Assignment on Ethics and Use of DECIDE Model Sort by: This is the last course in financial accounting. Building on the basis laid into ACCT2542, it covers more advanced topics, including accounting and analysis related to associates, joint ventures, foreign exchange transactions, offshore activities, diversified activities and derivative financial instruments. The course also deals with current issues relating to the scope and quality of financial reports. Examples of such topics from recent years include environmental reporting, ethical reporting dilemmas, and information that needs to be reported on cultural and heritage assets.
